Mary-Cate is a trial lawyer specializing in commercial litigation, real estate, and shareholder disputes. She has deep experience in complex, time-intensive litigation involving a wide array of matters and issues, where she focuses on practical solutions that are in the best interests of her clients. Although she has deep experience in a wide array of matters and issues, Mary-Cate's first priority is to counsel clients in litigation avoidance, seeking to prevent problems proactively, rather than respond to them reactively. When she does need to delve into the latter, though, Mary-Cate focuses on practical solutions that are in the best interests of her clients.

Mary-Cate works with real estate developers, business owners, landowners, and corporations on a variety of issues, including breach of contract, securities fraud, shareholder disputes, partnership issues, eviction and unlawful detainer proceedings, breach of fiduciary duty claims, and more.
